

IYSA February Player of the Month

Adrian Arguello

Please say hello to our February Player of the Month, Adrian Arguello! Adrian is currently playing for Boise Nationals Soccer Club on U-14 Madrid! He is an incredible athlete and a versatile soccer player. Arguello has attended multiple trainings for the Olympic Development Program (ODP) and competed in the ODP Regional Championships in Arizona this past January. He is a multitalented player and his typical position is attacking mid but plays wherever he is needed.

Arguello started playing the great sport of soccer when he was only 3 years old in Nampa, ID. Over the years, he has come to favor some national teams and their players. His favorite team is FC Barcelona, and his favorite players are Lionel Messi and Andrés Iniesta. Even though these are some impressive players, the person Adrian really looks up to is his dad. Adrian said, “My dad is always pushing me to become a better person.”

Arguello is busy with his extracurricular activities. He plays soccer and basketball while maintaining good grades AND mentors younger kids at his school!

We could not be more excited that Adrian is IYSA’s player of the month and can’t wait to see what else he will accomplish! CONGRATS ADRIAN!
